

L. Scott Smothers

September 30, 1952 - May 13, 2017

Leo "Scott" Smothers was born in Gresham, Oregon, September 30, 1952, to Leo and Mary Smothers. He had 2 older sisters, Rebecca (Becky) and Virginia (Ginny), and a younger brother, Mark.

Scott graduated from Gresham High School in 1970. His love for swimming began in high school with the swim team and continued throughout his life. He also enjoyed mountain biking, mountain unicycling and bike touring. Scott loved a physical challenge. His father's passion for flying passed on to Scott; he attained a pilot's license prior to a driver's license, and went on to complete his airplane mechanic certification. To improve his pilot skills, he acquired commercial and seaplane endorsements.

Scott was a planner. We could always depend on him to plan a group bike or ski trips. From fine furniture to home projects, car and bicycle tuneups, baking pies and bread, and making cheese, Scott enjoyed trying new skills.

Scott led children and adults in Christian worship (sang and played the guitar), disciplined young men in Christ, and led a Calvary Chapel home church.

Scott retired from Hewlett Packard in 2014 after working for 30 years as a maintenance technician.

Scott was married to Kathleen Glenn from 1982-1991; they have 2 children, Brandon and Ciera; Scott and Lynne were married from 1994 to present; they have a daughter, Shanna.

Scott is survived by his wife, Lynne, his son, Brandon, and his daughters, Ciera Dalton (Nathan and 2 daughters), and Shanna, his sister, Ginny Jost (Greg), stepmother, Mary Smothers, many nephews and nieces, and his in-law family in Vancouver, BC. Scott will be missed greatly.

Please make any donations in Scott's memory to Calvary Chapel Corvallis, OR, or Samaritan Evergreen Hospice, Albany, OR.

“ Scott to me was a man of many talents and his knowledge of subjects we only think about. A terrific husband and father; we had good talks about our wives who we adore and our children. A great tech to work with; coffee conjurer, cheese maker, gardener, bicyclist, dozen other things. I will miss him; my love and prayers to the family.

“ Scott was so special: smart, creative, handsome, loyal, and funny. I'd known him slightly, then started working with him days after he and Lynne were married - that was a wonderful time to get to know him and a joy. Scott led our group with integrity, and made sure everyone was shown respect for the skills they had (if not talent.) I respected him and the other top techs in our work group for sitting around and talking well about their wives and family - rather than the common griping or snarking, Our lifestyles, beliefs, and habits were not similar, but I was always happy to run into him around town, and he always seemed happy to see me and my husband (maybe we just amused him!) We will miss him so much, and our hearts go out to you Lynne.

“ Scott will be greatly missed at HP. Actually, we have missed him since his retirement from HP. His humor and love for bike riding stand out as memories for me. I've known Scott going back to our time together in Fab 21 Furnaces (2004) and more recently through our connections at Calvary Chapel. I most admire Scott's faith - genuine, real, caring.
