“ Will never forget the spring break trips we took piling all 4 of us kids in the back of your F350 and aunt Nancy between you and mom. The Ostridge that attacked the atna and mom yelling when you stopped and drove real slow over any bridges you could while she threw a fit and you just laughed at her all the time. The Canada trip to get grandpas moose head and grandma calling the police up there because grandpas truck went missing but really you had just gone to get some food. You always let me and Barry ride the gokart even if vicky and justin didnt want to lol us city kids only got to have farm fun at your house grandma and grandpas or aunt Jackie's and uncle Rick's. It's really hard to just think of your laugh and some as a memory now. I love you uncle Pete I know your in heaven with grandpa telling him to be careful so close to the edge of the bank with the tractor and them big rocks. Lol. The girls are getting to the right age to build a gokart in memory of you with an old lawnmower engine.

“ Peter was a one of a kind. Rather quiet, but with the York clan it's hard to get a word in anyway. We had some great laughs at Justin and Erin's wedding, with cooking and controlling the bees!
