“ February 1st 2016, Albert Walter Kunz passed away.

On this same day, I lost a childhood friend.

Many days we had spent playing together and Albert was always welcome and safe.

Some of the fondest memories of Albert are of playing in his backyard pool, investigating his pet bunny tunnels & playing Mannax (70's T.V. program) where Albert always apprehended the culprit.

Albert had a special ability to recall destinations on maps, sizes of commercial airliners and other interests that perked Albert's unique curiosities. During his adult years, Albert constructed complex 3D puzzles where Albert's late father allowed his/their living room to be the assembly area for his creations.

Albert had many special needs but never once did I witness Albert ever toil in self-pity, anger or despair. Albert was always kind and was so delighted to see friends and share stories.

On 2/1 our world lost a very special person that anyone could have called their friend.

Albert will be truly missed but is now in a better place; suited to embrace and reward him for the road he had traveled.
