“ I am forever grateful for our friendship and our times together. Beginning 45 years ago on the Tongass National Forest in Alaska when Charlie was the lead fish biologist. I was a newly hired biologist. He was a seasoned warrior having just worked on the Siuslaw NF in Oregon; where timber was also king and protecting fish habitat took back seat. Charlie took me under his wing and taught me so much about fisheries and the legal process to protect fish and wildlife. I will always miss this chapter of our friendship. Yvette and I and our three kids lived next door to Hollis and Charlie in Alaska. We enjoyed many family meals and holidays together. While Charlie loved his work, Megans birth was far more important to him. It was such a joy to share this time with them. I am grateful that over the years we stayed in touch. We will always remember your kindness, passion and your strength in your final years. You were a good man.
