“ You had a long, rough life but, also a good happy one when you found where you belonged. You fought through everything that God put you through. You are a beautiful, strong, loving soldier. You may be in a better place now but, the memory and the spirit of you will last a life time. I love you so much grandma. I promise to stop taking life for granted. It really is just so short. Ill find happiness and I wont ever let go of it. I love you, forever.
