“ I have a lot to say about lil' Garth. I can say people sure have a opposite outlook on life compared to what true friends back in the day had. And I'm saying this now for the people on this sight to see... he was my best friend. My homie. My bad days went not without wanting to call him, and my good days never went without wondering what trouble he was getting into. When we would talk it was always like we could start off where we left off. Real friends don't fake it to break it. So I hope the people on here know it will never feel like he's dead to me. Only that he lives on through all the wonderful adventures and weird shit we did when we were kids. I knew Garth sence I was 9. 24 years is a long time buddy. I miss Your awesome personality and genuine love. Every damn day!

“ Garth, Charolette and Family,

I am so sorry for the loss of your son. No parent should have to bury a child. He has gone to a better place where he does not have to struggle every day to live. Let his life of peace and happiness begin.
