

Ida Moser

August 7, 1925 - February 15, 2012

Ida May Moser of Corvallis went to be with her Lord and Savior in her home at age 86.

Ida was born in Selfridge, N.D., to Alexander and Amelia Oster. She was the third of 12 children. She grew up on a farm, and received her education in Selfridge.

She married Edwin Moser on Jan. 29, 1952. They lived on a farm south of McIntosh, S.D., where they farmed and ranched. To this union, one daughter, Carol, was born. In 1973, they moved to Corvallis. Ida liked to garden, read, do crafts, bake and visit with friends. Edwin and Ida liked to travel, and enjoyed trips to Canada, Mexico, California and the Midwest.

Her pride and joy was her family. She loved spending time with her daughter and husband, grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

Ida was active in First Baptist Church in McIntosh, where she taught Sunday school and vacation Bible school, worked with the youth group, sang in the choir and was church clerk.

She was also actively involved at Northwest Hills Community Church in Corvallis, where she helped in the nursery and with weddings, work days, ladies' Bible study and special events.

She was preceded in death by her husband, Edwin, in 2003; her mom and dad; six sisters; and one brother.

Survivors include one daughter, Carol (Bill) Mumma of Rochester, Wash.; sisters, Bernice Lemley of Aberdeen, S.D., Emma (Marvin) Bitz of Rapid City,

S.D., Maggie (Richard) Hlavinka of Corvallis, and Elsie Vetter of San Antonio, Texas; four grandchildren, Sarah Holland of Rochester, Bryan (Mallory) Mumma of Tumwater, Wash., Jared (Keri) Mumma of Olympia, Wash., and Aaron Mumma of Okinawa, Japan; and five great-grandchildren, Shea, Ethan and Hayden Holland of Rochester, and Kylie and Jordan Mumma of Olympia. Open-casket viewing is set for 10 a.m. Wednesday, Feb. 22, at Northwest Hills Community Church, with a celebration of Ida's life to start at 11 a.m. Interment will follow at Oaklawn Memorial Park. Pastor Andy Buchanan will officiate.

In lieu of flowers, donations can be made to Linn Benton Food Share or Furniture Share in care of McHenry Funeral Home, 206 N.W. Fifth St., Corvallis, OR 97330.
