

James Holaday

October 30, 1945 - February 22, 2013

James Robert Holaday, 67, of Alsea, formerly of Oxnard, Calif., peacefully passed away Feb. 22, 2013, in Corvallis, with family and friends at his side. Jim is survived by his loving wife, Laura; daughters Kimberly Crane and Robin Holaday; son David Holaday; seven grandchildren; and three great-grandchildren. Jim was preceded in death by mother Virginia Mae Holaday, father Orville M. Holaday, and daughter Kathleen Simpson.

Born in Glendale, Calif., affectionately known as “Tuna” or “Jim,” for 47 years he carried on the family tradition of driving a cement mixer; his driving skills earned him the nickname “The Legend.” Jim was an avid fisherman and hot-rod enthusiast, and loved water-skiing, off-roading, camping, people, partying and dancing.

As Jim was a proud Vietnam veteran, his services will take place at 1:30 p.m. Saturday, March 9, at the Oregon National Guard Armory in Corvallis. In lieu of flowers, the family requests donations be sent to the Veterans of Foreign Wars or the Disabled America Veterans.
