

Jason Scott Williams

August 30, 1986 - January 15, 2016

Jason Williams, 29, died suddenly on January 15th 2016 in Corvallis, Oregon. Jason was born on August 30th, 1986, to Michael Williams and Deborah Hall. He graduated from Crescent Valley High School in 2005.

Jason walked many paths in life, but his main aspiration was to be a daddy. His beloved two daughters brought him huge joy. He loved music, especially rap, R&B, and new rock. Jason was always protective of those close to him. He was easy going, loved to laugh, and make his friends and family laugh. Although not religious, he explored spirituality, especially through personal poetry and writings.

Jason is survived by his parents Michael Williams and Deborah Hall, step father Nigel Hall, partner Cha'uri Corbray, daughters Saphyra and Nova Williams, his sisters Victoria Williams and Nichole Bunsen, and step siblings Devin and Natalie Hall. Plus a plethora of family and friends.

The world is a little less bright without Jason's smile, and he will be missed by all the souls he touched while here. Loved, but never forgotten..

“ Jason, you were an amazing father to Saphyra and Nova. You made those girls light up every time they saw you. You were Nova's calm. Saphyra's pride. You made her giggle in a way that no one else will not even I. You were there every step of her hearing journey. So proud when she signed new signs and started speaking again. You always bragged about how your blue eyes were passed down to both girls ❤️ You are and will forever be a part of those little girls lives. Not a day goes by that I don't think about you. I will always make sure those girls know how much you loved them! Rest in peace Jason.

“ I won't be at the viewing today, but I want you all to know my thoughts and heart are with you. Don will be there and provide our cards and love we are feeling. Jason was a good kid and did not deserve what happened to him. My heart breaks for Mike and Debbie at this time in the loss of their son. Much Love Barb
