“ Karin is my grandmother, the most incredible and kind soul I have ever met. I remember she and I would dress up like pilgrims to get the eggs, and she would always tell my sister and me to come play hair stylist so that she could do our hair. While she was going through chemotherapy and we would go out, I always said, "Don't forget your hair, Grammy!" I will never forget her. She'll always be in my heart and my mind. I love you, Grammy.

“ Karin and I went to junior high and high school together. I've kept up with her through our mutual friend Patrice. It was so good to see Karin at the picnic at our 40th high school reunion. I've been saying prayers for all of your family through her illness. I am so sorry for your loss. I know she was always an amazing light in the world and will be missed. Marah Drake Murphy
