

Laura Davison

August 3, 1933 - July 3, 2025

Laura Lowman Davison passed away in Corvallis, leaving behind a legacy of dedication and care.

Born on August 3, 1933, in Spokane, Washington, Laura was the daughter of Roy Marion and Mary Francis Patton Patterson. At the age of six, she moved with her family to Salem, Oregon, where she began her education in the first grade. The family later settled in Grants Pass, Oregon, where Laura attended grade school and graduated from Grants Pass High School in 1951.

Following her passion for helping others, Laura enrolled in the Good Samaritan Hospital School of Nursing in Portland. She graduated in 1954 and began her nursing career at Good Samaritan Hospital in Corvallis. After several years there, she continued her work as an office nurse, providing compassionate care throughout her professional life.

Laura was the proud mother of three children: Stephen L. Davison, Patrick E. Davison, and Karen E. Moon. Her family grew to include six grandchildren and twelve great-grandchildren, all of whom survive her.

She will join her late husband, Eugene, at Willamette National Cemetery.
