“ We would skip class and go across the street from the high school to Lonnie's house. We'd just hang out on weekends, play cards (always play cards), drink a beer. His mom's chihuahua peed on me one day when I picked it up to hold it - definitely figured me out. We would race cars and have so much fun just being stupid.

Lonnie, you were always very kind and had a great laugh. We'll meet again. Find peace and happiness, my brother.
