

Lowell Lindh

August 21, 1930 - August 17, 2010

Lowell William Lindh, 79 of Corvallis died Tuesday at Good Samaritan Regional Medical Center. Born August 21, 1930 in Portland, he was the only son of Levi and Ethel Everson Lindh. Lowell's mother died when he was 12 and he was raised by his Aunt Hattie and Uncle Willis Everson in Waldport where he attended grade school and high school through the 11th grade. He graduated from Corvallis high school in 1948. Lowell served in the U. S. Army during the Korean Conflict. He married Caroline DeJong on August 8, 1953 in Sheridan, Oregon. Lowell began his working career as a route driver for Patton News Agency and was also employed as a trapper for the Benton County Animal Damage Control unit for eight years. He was the consummate outdoorsman—enjoying hunting, fishing, gardening and trapping. He was also an avid reader and a great story teller; his dry sense of humor was always evident when he related a story. Lowell was a fan of college and high school sports of all kinds. He will be remembered as a quiet gentle man who loved spending time with his family and the outdoors.

Preceded in death by his parents. Lowell is survived by his wife of 57 years, Caroline; daughters and sons in law Jacquelyn Dee and Bernard Lindh of Walnut Creek, Terri Rae and Kenneth Neil Avery of Corvallis; grandchildren Jonathan, Katie, Matthew and Sara.

A Funeral Service will be held at noon Saturday, August 21st at McHenry Funeral Home 206 NW 5th St., Corvallis, OR 97330.

“ On behalf of the USDA-APHIS-Wildlife Services program I want to send our condolences. In his role as the Benton County trapper for 8 years. Lowell was a beloved employee and public servant. Employees who had the opportunity to work with Lowell and the livestock producers he assisted by protecting their stock from predators had a high regard for him. With Sympathy, Dave Williams-State Director, USDA-APHIS-Wildlife Services
