“ My son (also named Marvin) and daughter always delighted in seeing Marvin and his booth. He let them be testers using his puzzles for nearly the entire show. They loved his kindness. I will miss him and his work immensely.

“ Marvin Margaret and I went to Berea college together in the late 1970s. Marvin helped me with a volunteer organization called people who care. I have always held him very dear my heart. I knew his great creativity but I also knew his sincere heart for hurting-people. We lost touch but just this morning I decided to try to find him. My heart is broken that I did not reach out to him earlier. Please know Margaret, that I hold you dearly in my heart and I know of your great loss. Marvin spirit will be greatly missed

“ Marvin will always be the man of why not; let's do it-his spirit was infectious, his love of creativity a joyful gift he willingly shared, we are all at a loss but also charged to carry on his visions for they made the world a better place. My love and want for peace for Margaret, Alia, Noah and the extended family is joined I know by countless others who all loved Marvin.

“ Sad news to hear of Marvin's passing. My love goes out to Margaret and the kids. I loved being your neighbor on Crystal Lake Dr bonding with the land, growing a beautiful healthy bountiful garden and enjoying loving community. I remember feeling so happy having a yummy brunch at your house and Marvin was reading some lovely kids books to Mikayla when she was little. One book was about The Farm at Maple Hill and the author so beautifully described celebrating the unique personality of each animal on the farm. I had to buy a copy because Mikayla so fell in love with the story and Marvin's kind, quiet joy sharing it with her and great children's books and puzzles are such a wonderful part of childhood and meant to be enjoyed again and again:)💕🌸🇺🇸 The whole loving neighborhood laughing and getting the figleys to rise up...Figley Up! Figley Up! Figley Up! Is a priceless south town tradition of down to earth simple joy at the Jack's Home:)🇺🇸🙏 Big Hugs Honoring Marvin's Good Kind Big Heart💕👉👉👉👉👉👉

“ The entire community has lost a big beam of light. His kindness and joy and hard work exemplified the best of Corvallis and Southtown. The world feels a little darker, and his influence lives on.
