“ Hey Dad, I’m an HRD for a hospital now. I got my shrm certification and just finished up my masters. I’m still chasing you, I love you. Rest in peace.

“ Miss you Big Guy! My Dad was amazing. He taught me how to prepare for interviews, how to build a resume. I’ll miss doing mock interviews, and phone calls on the way home from work.

I could be brutally honest with anything in my life and he would be there to listen without judging. Sometimes, he would have to stop laughing before giving advice. But I can’t blame him, I was a bit of a dummy in my younger years. Lol I wasn’t prepared to lose him. I guess no one ever is. I hope I can make him proud. I love him so much.

“ I worked with Max for many, many years at the Chancellor's Office, Information Technology Services. I remember Max's dedication, kindness, and his laugh! On trips to and from Oregon Institute of Technology in Klamath Falls we had many conversations, definitely contributing to my global knowledge. We need more like Max. It was a beautiful service yesterday, was good to see all of Max's family. My heartfelt condolences, he will be missed by many.

“ Life is not fair! Max was taken away from us way too soon. I am very saddened by the sudden loss of Max. It's a shock to read about his passing in the obits. Max and I worked closely for many years in Information Technology Services. I will always remember him as a determined hard worker with an easy going laugh. My heartfelt condolences to Maria and the children.

“ I really enjoyed working with Max during my time at Oregon State University. Max was such a smart man, hard working, and had such a great sense of humor - He was such a joy to work with because he cared so much for the people around him.

My deepest condolences to his family and friends,

“ We were skinny 10 and 12 year olds running about the streets of Dhanmandi and going to school at the Dacca American Society School. He was a live wire and I never forgot him. Leaving Dacca in 1970 never saw or heard of him again until reconnecting late last year through Facebook and a DASS alumni group. Very happy we met up in the virtual world before his passing. “ I worked with Max when he worked for System Support Services and I was in the Controller's Office. He was one of the best programmers I worked with, always cheerful, positive, "I'll take care of it." and collaborative. I last saw him with his wife and daughter at Panera's not that long ago and I've enjoyed his occasional letters to the editor. I'm so sorry for this loss, which seems unexpected to me and share condolences with his family.
