

Reggie Rosevear

June 12, 1924 - November 20, 2007

Reggie is survived by his wife June and daughter, Pam. Growing up, Reggie was known by his family as “The smart child.” He proudly graduated from University of Pennsylvania Wharton School of Economics in 1946. Upon graduation from college, Reggie worked as an economist for the U.S. government in Japan. Reggie met and married Tomoko Nonoue his loving wife of 54 years. Reggie spoke fluent Japanese. He received his master’s degree in East Asian Studies and was a life long student of Japanese history & culture. Ballroom dancing was Reggie’s passion. It is through dancing that Reggie enjoyed an active social life and was blessed with many life long friends. It is through dancing that Reggie met June Ramus whom he married in 2006. June made him happy til the day he died. Reggie owned a business in Portland and commuted for 45 years. In Portland, he had many friends that enjoyed weight lifting, hiking and joking together. Reggie also enjoyed gardening & philately. Reggie loved Oregon, the mountains and Corvallis. There will be no public service. In lieu of flowers, a contribution in his name to Benton Hospice or a charity of your choice would be appreciated.

Tribute Wall

DS

“ June and Pam, we are brokenhearted at Reggie's passing. We will miss him terribly, just as we have missed Tommie these last few years. Nobody danced a bolero the way Reg. did. He always saved one for me. We enjoyed our visit with Reg. and June at the Fall Festival in Portland in October. Saturday night, Reg's sense of humor was evident, with lots of twinkle in his eyes. All of you will forever be in our hearts. Love, Barb and Dave

Dave Bolton and Barb Sanders - November 23, 2007 at 03:59 PM

JK

“ Pam & June
We are so sorry to hear of your loss. We enjoyed many dance occasions both with Reggie & Tommie & later with June. We especially enjoyed helping Reggie & Tommie learn the quickstep.
Our deepest sympathy is extended to you and you are in our thoughts & prayers Jane & Doug

Jane & Doug Kay - November 22, 2007 at 11:39 AM