

Sandra C Lewis

July 30, 1942 - November 5, 2019

On November 5, 2019 surrounded by loving family, Sandra Cox Lewis succumbed to her battle with cancer and passed peacefully from mortality to immortality into the arms of her beloved Heavenly Father. She was 77 years young.

Sandra was born on July 30, 1942, the first of five children to Edwin Charles Cox and Mary LaVerle (Sorenson) Cox of Cedar City, Utah. She was baptized a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints on August 6, 1950. While attending Utah State University she met and married the love of her life, Max Calvert Lewis of Dingle, Idaho and they were married in the St. George, Utah Temple on December 29, 1964. Over nearly 55 years of marriage she endeared herself to her husband and her children through countless acts of service, sacrifice and the best homemade chocolate cream pie you can imagine.

Sandra was a proud mother and loved her children with all her ability and every ounce of her strength to the very end. She was as loyal a friend as anyone could hope to have but to no one more than her husband. She was blessed with twenty grandchildren and one great grandchild. She was never happier then when her children and grandchildren were gathered together in her presence.

Sandra was filled with faith and purpose through her faith in the Lord Jesus Christ and her membership in the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints and served in many callings and assignments throughout her life.

Sandra followed Max in his various work assignments throughout Utah and Idaho eventually moving to Corvallis, Oregon in August of 1987. Sandra took work at the old Corvallis Henderson Office Supply then with Oregon State University, first in the department of Human Resources and finally as the office manager for the Forestry Department where she later retired. She was a skilled and compassionate employee and always gave everyone the courtesy of being kind no matter the circumstance.

Sandra is survived by her husband Max C. Lewis; her three daughters Deann Radke, Tammy Ashdown, and Sherri Lewis; her four sons Charles Calvert Lewis, Jeffrey Max Lewis, Steven Thomas Lewis and Edwin Boyd Lewis; her three siblings; Kathryn Cox Jensen, Barbara Cox Hoag, and Edwin Richard Cox. Sandra is preceded in death by her parents Edwin Charles Cox and Mary LaVerle Sorenson Cox and younger sibling Douglas Charles Cox.

God be with you till we meet again!

“ I was so sorry to read about Sandra's death. I knew her from WW and sometimes met her walking on my street (she lived close by). She was a very sweet woman and always a pleasure to see.

“ Sandra and Max married while I ,the youngest of the the Cox descendant cousins, was only about five years old. However, I remember thinking what a beautiful bride my sweet cousin was, and thinking her husband was getting quite the catch! I knew I liked him, because my cousin did, and I trusted her judgement. Through the years, I realized all the more what a great woman Sandy was. I watched her with her own children, as she came to visit her parents. I saw her loving kindness to my parents, and our sweet Aunt Inez. She truly was a shining example of love, joy, and faithfulness! Though we have rarely been together in our adult lives, I will always remember how kind she was to her younger cousin, as I was growing up.

I do not have the address or phone number of all her children, or even her siblings, but I want each of them to know, how truly sorry I am that the trial of saying “goodbye” for a season, is having to be faced today. I know what a huge hole in the heart, that losing one of God’s finest souls, creates. I am so grateful for the gospel of Jesus Christ, and our knowledge that the resurrection will come. I am grateful to know that her “goodbye” here in mortality, has turned into a joyous “Hello” on the other side of the veil. Her reunion with her loved ones in the spirit world, would be wonderful. She will be greeted with a “Well Done! We missed you, and now you are home!” I am grateful for Priesthood power that binds our families together forever. Max can rest assured of his wife’s eternal love and companionship. My love to each and everyone of my extended family today! My heart and prayers are with you all. I always loved Sandy!
