

William Kiger

January 1, 1924 - June 22, 2008

William “Bill” Henry Kiger, 84 of Philomath, passed away on Sunday June 22. He was born on January 1, 1924 in Blodgett, Oregon to Fred G. and Ruth E. Kiger. He went to school at Blodgett School and Philomath High School. He married Gloria Campbell on March 19, 1943. They were later divorced.

Bill was and avid hunter and fisherman. He liked to collect cast-iron replicas of antique trucks, loved dogs and horses, going to garage sales and flea markets—and could sell ice cubes to Polar Bears. He was a logger and a farmer up to the age of 80.

Preceded in death by his grandson, Earl T. Low and brothers Earl Kiger and Dick Kiger. Bill is survived by two daughters, Naoma Jones and her husband Don of Philomath and Sharon White of Albany; five grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren; one sister, Naoma Baker, 92 of Salem; one brother Fred G. Kiger II of Blodgett and numerous cousins, nieces and nephews. He is also survived by his loyal canine companions, Zeke and Marie.

McHenry Funeral Home is handling arrangements.
